

TAKING ACTION FOR SAFETY AND HEALTH:

Implementing an Effective Injury and Illness Protection Program (IIPP) for Industries Working at Heights

FREE SEMINAR

Workers in the roofing industry are three times more likely to experience fatal work-related injuries than other construction workers. This free half-day course is intended to help roofing and industries that work at heights develop and implement an effective health and safety program.

Presented by trainers from UC Berkeley Labor Occupational Health Program, Cal/OSHA Consultation Service, and State Compensation Insurance Fund.
